What have been the blessings of praying for your kids and their schools with other moms?

We begin our prayer time by praising God for one of God's attributes. This is so helpful to get my mind off my worries and concerns and on our trustworthy God who has everything under control. We have a time of thanking God for answered prayers and how God is working. I am excited to hear all God is doing! Later we pray for our children. I am very encouraged, and my faith grows as I hear another mom pray for my child.

What advice do you have for someone who's a little nervous to try a Moms in Prayer group?

I encourage all moms to try a Moms in Prayer group. She can let the leader know that she would like to listen. She does not need to feel pressured to pray out loud. Other moms can pray for her child. She could also invite another friend to attend with her.

Is it ok to join in the middle of the year? Is now a good time to jump in?

Yes, joining any time of the school year would be great! Typically, Moms in Prayer groups meet once a week or every 2 weeks for an hour of prayer during the school year.

I would tell another mom to join right away. I promise that if you make time in your schedule, God will give it back to you tenfold. It's going to change your prayer life forever and you will find peace and relief from anxiety and worry as a mom. You'll even make lifelong friends in the process. I can't imagine being a mom without this prayer group!
